We hope that some means can be worked out whereby the young man who has attempted to serve his country, and was rejected by the proper authorities, will be given a badge, or something like that, which will designate him as a man who has tried, but failed, to serve his country. There are many young men who have defects that no one but the physician knows anything about. He naturally hates for people to look at him like he is a slacker, when, in fact, he has done what he could to serve.

Major Walter Dubard, of Greenwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright of Memphis, attended the funeral of their cousin, John E. Huffington Wednesday.

Speaking of John Huffington, he would have made an ideal reporter, for he certainly had a nose for news. "Ask John," was usually what happened when we wanted to know anything. He was remarkably accurate in his reports.

Speaking of Huffingtons, Keene Huffington certainly was good to his "baby" brother.

Pursuing the thought in the first item of this column, we would suggest that when a man in turned down by any branch of the service he be given not only a button (badge, or something like that) but a signed statement concerning his rejection—written evidence that he was not using the button without authority. The time is coming when slackers are going to be regarded with less love than a rattlesnake.

Hamp Dogan from the free state was in our midst Thursday morning.

Mrs. Bailey must have been keeping Brother J. E. Bailey at home at nights for he has not been mooning recently.

The tracks of Brother J. E. Ratliff were seen on the cash book when we returned from coffee Wednesday afternoon.

Anyone can make this contribution to national defense: keep your tongue still. Wagging tongues are muntions for the enemy.

Aint they sweet.

P. F. Fitzgerald, one of our good colored subscribers, was a prompt renewer. Thanks.

The public is warned to be on the lookout for strangers who are offering correspondence courses in national defense trades. Investigate before you put out your good money. A man, apparently unable to pay out money uselessly, seems to have been gypped on such a scheme.

Inevitably in seeking to coordinate civilian defense there must be more or less confusion, and all persons should be patient, and not too critical. Out of the almost universal willingness to serve will come a body which is well trained and well diciplined. Help and encourage the elected and apopinted leaders in the various movements. All of them are giving their time without any pay.

Here I am repeating rumors. A man representing himself to be some official in the iron workers union was in the office Thursday morning inquiring whether the camp (the contract for whose erection had already been let, according to him) would be in Grenada county or in Montgomery county.

Little Betty Horn, daughter of Mr. D. H. Horn, of the GCW force, slipped and broke her leg on the concrete slab near the bus station, Wednesday.

Frank Matthews left Wednesday, having been accepted by the Marine Corps. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Matthews.

YOU can make a great contribution to national defense by keeping your mouth shut and foregoing any opportunity to spread a lot of tales about the war that ou hear.

This nation has never been more unified than it is today. It was unified thru grim necessity. Communities and families are that way. Who ever heard of a community which was getting along all right, becoming unified? Who has not seen an estranged couple get back together at the graveside of a dead child?

In this era where rising prices of almost everything are accepted as a matter of course, it is refreshing to see the power company reduce its rates, from 10 to 25 percent, on commercial consumers?

Mrs. Paul Peeples was kind enough to come in and renew for another year. She has the GCW habit.

John E. Huffington Died In Grenada Wednesday

John E. Huffington, age 41, died suddenly in his home on South Street, Wednesday morning, January 14, 1942.

He was born in Grenada on April 5, 1898 and was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Huffington. He received his education in Grenada and, save the time he served in the army during the first World War, he has lived here all of his life. On May 28, 1917, he joined the "home" company, Headquarters Company, 1st Miss. F. A., afterwards 16th F. A., and was assigned to the Sanitary Detachment attached to that unit. It so happens that the writer and the deceased volunteered on the same day and hour. After the war, he worked for the "Tie Plant" for a number of years. At the time of his death he was Time Keeper on the WPA street project in Grenada.

Simple, yet dignified services were conducted at Garner Brothers' Funeral Home by the Rev. C. A. Pharr, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased and his family were members, Wednesday afternoon, after which the body was carried to the family lot in Odd Fellows cemetery and buried.

Pallbearers were Messrs. John Bradley, Ben McElwrath, W. B. Marfin, Harry Greenfield, Cliff Hamby, and McCune Talbert. The American Legion had charge.

The deceased is survived by but one immediate relative, his brother, Mr. Keene Huffington, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

Government Crop Insurance Explained By Agent Hays

Cotton Crop Insurance, a form of insurance that guarantees the cotton farmer a cotton crop, some cotton to sell, every year, soon will be made available to Grenada county farmers, it was announced this week by Robert W. Hays, Grenada County Administrative Officer, AAA.

This insurance may be applied for by any person to cover his interest as landlord, owner, tenant, or share cropper in cotton to be grown in 1942. It is not compulsory. A landlord may insure his share of the crop without the tenant or sharecroper insuring their share, or vice versa. The application must cover all cotton within a county, irrespective of the number of farms involved, in which the individual will have an interest.

The insurance coverage and the cost, or premium rate, of the insurance is determined by the cotton production history of the individual farm over the period 1934-1940, inclusive.

The maximum insurance coverage is seventy-five percent of the actual average yield in lint cotton per acre for this seven year period. The cost, or premium, is based on the actual average loss in lint cotton for the period below seventy-five percent of the average yield. Insured acreage will be the 1942 cotton allotment or the planted acreage, whichever is smaller.

For the purpose of cottton crop insurance all roverage, premiums, and indemnities are expressed in pounds of lint cotton—not dollars and cents. These poundages, as expressed, may, of course, be converted into dollars and cents by using current market quotations.

The Cotton insurance program will le administered b the Counyt AAA office for and on behalf of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, which is a part of the general program of the United States Department of Agriculture administered for the benefit of agriculture. Funds have already been appropriated for administration. The AAA will be paid by the Corporation for doing the work.

Unlike other insurance such as life, fire, theft, etc., cotton crop insurance is a nonprofit insurance. That is, the farmer does not have to pay for upkeep and profit of the insuring agency. He simply pays for the protection against loss on his own farm.

Losses, or indemnities, will be paid by the corporation in the form of certificates which sets forth the number of pounds of lint cotton due as indemnity. This certificate wil be good for ninety days and may be used (1) to obtain the cash equivalent, (2) to obtain lint cotton, (3) to obtain a commodity loan upon the cottonrepresented by the certificate.

March 16, 1942 has been set as the closing date for accepting applications for insurance. However, the necessary forms have not yet been received in the county office. Mr. Hays advises that as soon as these forms have been received all cotton producers will be notified by letter. Until then he requests that producers do not come to the office for the purpose of taking out insurance.

Mr. Hays advises further that should any questions arise concerning crop insurance not covered in this article he and his co-workers will be glad to answer them.

Grenada Men Receive "Wings"

CHARLES C. ANDREWS

LUCIEN C. PROBY, JR.

As a fitting climax to their seven and one half months adventure as Aviation Cadets in the Army Air Corps Charles C. ("Chappy") Andrews, son of Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt, and Lucien C. Proby, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Proby, received the coveted silver wings and gold bars of a Lieutenant at their graduation from the Air Corps Advance Flying School, Brooks Field, Texas on January 9, 1942.

These splendid young men of Grenada have completed what has been termed as a "$25,000 scholarship in the world's finest flying school". The final phase of the Air Corps training program, accomplished at Brooks Field under the direction of Lt. Col. Stanton T. Smith, gives them a thorough training in the art of formation flying, instrument flying, interception problems and day and night cross-country besides an intensive ground school program.

SAVE WASTE PAPER

A number of inquiries have come to us asking if the Boy Scouts will gather up waste paper. In answer to these questions and for general information, we wish to state that the Adult Scout Committee will begin this campaign with the Scouts as soon as we can secure a Paper Baler and a central storage place. A committee is working on this matter of storage. We will appreciate any information that might help us secure a large central storage building.

We suggest that you save old magazines, newspapers, books dry and clean, card board in fact all kinds of waste paper, or further information call any of the following:

Maybe There Will Be An Army Camp Here

Mr. Charles Hannah, representative of the Iron Workers of Mississippi, was in Grenada Thursday to look over the army camp site which lays two-thirds in Grenada county and one-third in Montgomery county. Mr. Hannah states that a contract has been signed between iron workers, electricians and plumbers for construction job, which is to begin in 30 to 60 days on a camp on the above mentioned sight. The above information was given by Mr. D. Y. Dubard, President of Grenada County Chamber of Commerce.

United Housewives Can Help Tie Tin Cans To Axis' Tail

(By W. W. CHAPLIN)

Kitchen combat: The united housewives of America can engage in mass production of planes and tanks and guns, just as well as their menfolk who work in the war factories. Without ever leaving their kitchens they can present the fighting forces this year with 2,475,000 tons of scrap iron and 25,000 tons of tin, prime raw materials of many weapons.

That can be done merely by saving and selling all food tins instead of throwing them out. Means have now been devised for separating the steel from the tin and "sending them to war."

Here's the way to do it. Remove bottom of can as well as top. Hold under water tap to remove labels and food particles. Flatten with the foot. Stack in a carton and when its full your junk dealer will pay cash and sell in turn to a detinning plant.

You'll hear more about this. The trade paper "Daily Metal Reporter" is starting a campaign. The slogan: "Save a tin can to tie it to the Axis' tail."

The following Presidential shorts by Mrs. Luther Manship, of Jackson, National and Civilian Defense.

Everyone is asking, "What Can I Do?"

"Guard well that Flag, for faith and hope and better days to be, your Flag the peoples Flag, the Flag that MAKES MEN FREE."

The first shock is over. Now, no matter what happens, a united fighting America faces our enemies. You, as an Auxiliary member, have an important post in this fight for the life of our country. You are part of the intelligence corps of this great American Legion Auxiliary force which is helping America on the vital home front.

No longer must we strive to arouse the American people. That has been done by the bursting of bombs in Pearl Harbor. Now we need to help guide their effort and strengthen their spirit.

The Legion Auxiliary was trained and ready for service when war struck. Its half a million women were the largest organized force the country had to carry out the women's war work. The Auxiliary members must strengthen this force, help keep it fighting with highest patriotic inspiration, convey information about its work, and by presenting its example of its services to the public, show every American woman how she can save—

GRENADA COUNTY CITIZENS ARE CALLED FOR DEFENSE SET-UP

"In Partnership With God" Is Making Millions

When Mr. R. G. LeTorneau comes to Grenada, Sunday, February 1st, to speak three times at the First Baptist Church, to the public, paying all his own expenses, and positively refusing to accept a penny from anybody he will be doing what he has been doing (alot along for several years.

Recently the Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal devoted an entire page to the story of Mr. LeTourneau's remarkable achievements. The article in that paper, reading like this: "There is a company whose president is Robert Gilmour LeTourneau, and whose chairman of the board is God. The partnership dates from the time, years ago, when Bob saw the Lord "face to face" while praying in Storkton, Calif. As Bob puts it, he made God his "senior partner" then and there. It happened this way: Bob got down on his knees one prayed. Bob said: I need victory. If you will give me the backbone that I need and fill me with Your spirit so that I can work for You, I'll do what ever You ask me from this day on." The Lord heard Bob's prayer, and Bob saw Him face to face. It was so real that Bob went to see his pastor the next morning.

"Brother," he said to the preacher, "do you think that I should go out into the world as a missionary? I promised God last night that I would do what He wanted me to do and I want to make good that promise." The pastor said to Bob: "Bob, pray about it." After they had prayed, the pastor said: "You know, Bob, God needs businessmen, too." And Bob answered: "All right, I'll try to be God's business man." That was years ago. Today Mr. LeTourneau is the president of an $18,000,000,000.00 corporation with approximately 2,000 employees on the payroll. His factories are located at Peoria, Ill., Stockton, Calif., and Toccoa, Ga. and the equipment is sold by 60 or more distributors and dealers throughout the world. He designs all the equipment that is manufactured by R. G. LETOURNEAU INC.

Mr. LeTourneau is in great demand as a speaker. He takes time from his business to travel the length and breadth of the United States to give his testimony of how God has blessed him in his manufacturing business, in which he is a partner with God.

Week-end Cocktail Parties and Golf Courses hold no attraction for Mr. LeTourneau. After a busy week at the plant he can befound every Saturday leaving by train or airplane to travel hundreds of miles to tell the simple story of Jesus and His love.

Mr. LeTourneau is actively associated with the work of the Christian Business Men's Committee International, which is arousing Christian laymen all over the land to their responsibilities to the Lord's work.

Mr. LeTourneau lives a humble life in a modest home, and he has not permitted his wealth to spoil him or any member of his family.

The pastors of all the churches of Grenada are cooperating with Mr. Wiley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in an effort to secure the largest attendance possible at the three services when Mr. LeTourneau will speak in Grenada. This is the greatest man who has been toGrenada in many a day, and every person who can possibly do so should hear him. There will be no collection taken for Mr. LeTourneau. He pays all his own expenses, from the Foundation which he has established, and into which he has put more than thirteen million dollars.

Any man within reach of Grenada who fails to take advantage of this opportunity to hear one of the outstanding Christian business men of the world will be doing himself a great injustice.

CIVILIAN AIR BASE HERE A PROBABILITY

Thru the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, Grenada is likely to have in the near future a government-sponsored training school for potential pilots. Essentially such a base would take properly qualified young men and put them thru the "primary" class in aviation. Those making good in such a base would be sent for additional training to a regular army school. Such an institution has been functioning in Jackson for over a year. A payroll of over half a million dollars would be a part of the program. Suitable land would be leased.

The supervisors have tentatively agreed to issue bonds in the amount of $12,500.00 for the community's part of this program, while the City Council has agreed to issue a similar amount. As such an issue would require the specified approval of the State Legislature now in session, a bill authorizing such issues is now in process of enactment there.

Sid Law, I. C.'s "Safety Engineer, Makes 2 Talks

Mr. Sid Law, one of the I. C. System's safety engineers, and a man who has not lost a day in 42 years service as a result of an accident, made two "Safety" talks in Grenada Tuesday, one to all of the pupils at City Schools and the other to the members of the Rotary Club.

Mr. Law lives in Memphis and married a Grenada girl, Miss Rosa Ladd, and naturally feels very close to Grenada. His talk embodied references to methods of the prevention and methods of preventing grade crossing accidents. He stated that 1 in 4 out of 5 years Memphis had earned the title of the Nation's safest city, so much so he was concerned, and this condition was brought about by proper enforcement of the laws and the education of the people. So far as fatal accidents on the streets of Memphis, these accidents have been reduced 57 percent over last year.

Grade crossing accidents, however, have increased greatly over last year in the nation as a whole as there have been 27 percent more accidents in the nation and 62 percent more fatal accidents over the nation at grade crossing.

Incidentally, Mr. Law is enthusiastic over the effectiveness, efficiency and effectiveness of the Billups Grade Crossing Signal now operating at Burst's Crossing on No. 7 Highway north of Grenada, and stated that he believed such a signal, if erected at all inforiang grade crossings, would reduce grade crossing accidents by 75 percent.

GRENADA LIONS OFFER HELP TO COUNTRY'S LEADERS

The Grenada Lions Club, of which J. B. Batson is president and Rev. C. S. Liles is secretary, held its Victory meeting last Friday and sent the following telegram to the President of the United States:

"In unity with 4000 other Lions Clubs in the U. S., holding Victory meetings this week, we pledge to you as leaders of our country our loyalty, united support, cooperation and combined efforts to the end which will mean a complete and lasting victory."

The club, by proper resolutions, also pledged its loyalty and support to the city administration and the state administration, by sending copies to Mayor R. W. Sharp and Governor Paul Johnson.

Grenada has reasonable hope for a civilian training camp for fliers.

Opportunity For The Local Merchants

A recent issue of the Sun, Chicago's new morning newspaper, carried an article, written by Harold Braymath, one of its Washington correspondents, and headed "Tire Crisis May Bring Revolution in U. S. Life", which contained the following significant paragraphs:

"The number one shortage of the American economic system is rubber. As a result drastic changes in the American mode of life may be necessary.

"England and most of Europe have gone back to the horse and buggy age, except that there are few horses and no buggies. The automobile for ordinary civilian use is very scarce in most of these countries and almost non-existent in Germany.

"In America the automobile greatly changed our mode of existence. It helped make cities greater and small towns smaller because people thought nothing of going 50 to 100 miles to shop. As automobile use is restricted, the small town will become more important.

"To the small town newspaper, this message means that the amount of advertising it has been receiving from the automobile industry will be drastically reduced, if not entirely eliminated.

To the small town merchants, the sentence, "As automobile use is restricted the small towns will become important", the message should be very heartening.

It suggests that the small town is to have a re-birth as a trading center, and in its rebirth there is an opportunity with a vengeance for the small town merchants. For those people who, through nothing of going 50 to 100 miles to shop, are going to think more and more about the wear and tear on their tires, if they go out of town to do their shopping, and they are going to think more and more of doing their shopping at home.

Are the merchants in Grenada aware of this new opportunity and ready to capitalize upon it? It is the job of the TCW and other community newspapers, to make the merchants in their respective communities aware of this new opportunity and that's what we are trying to do here.

But don't think it is going to be a push-over for the local merchants to recapture from the merchants of Memphis and other large communities the business that they have lost to these larger merchants. The larger merchants are not going to surrender this business without a fight. The big stable on those larger towns, like Memphis and Jackson, are going to bring more and more advertising messages into Grenada, and they (the big merchants) are going to use every legitimate effort even to mail order business to hold onto Grenada's trade.

"Promoting trade at home" and urging people to "support home institutions" both have been failures. You have to show people that trading at home means money in their pockets. The tire crisis gives an opportunity to do this.

What are you, Mr. Local Merchant, going to do about it?

Older Men In Nation's Effort

"Miss. W. W. W."

The United States of America is at war, therefore, Mississippi is at war. Many of our finest young men have gone to the army, navy and air corps. But what about the older men of intellectual distinction?

We have men of big caliber in Mississippi who should be used in the National scheme of things. We have Hon. Mike Conner, who could be of great help in the Department of the Treasury in working out tax problems.

We have Walter Sillers who is a splendid lawyer and who could be of invaluable aid to the Nation.

We have Clayton Rand, who is brilliant in many fields and who likely could be counted upon to give out the kind of patriotic addresses and editorials that would have a real meaning.

We have many other men over the draft age who are outstanding in ability who should be in this great National Effort. Let's hear from our "big" men. We know the "little" men are already in this war up to their ears.

Don't say that we need the big ones at home as Governor Johnson and Mr. Billups are running Mississippi.

Morale, A Vital Element

Without morale, no army can win battle. It is just as important to keep up the morale of the members of the armed forces as it is to see that they have adequate supplies of food, munitions and equipment. One simple way to keep up morale in the army is for the people back home to write often to their sons in the armed forces (if you have no son, write to your neighbor's son), and it is better not to write at all than to write pessimistic letters about mama's rheumatism, papa's debts and sister's elopment. A soldier whose mind is cluttered with worries about things at home cannot "soldier" as he should.

Almost as important is the maintenance of the morale of the people back home. Most individuals prefer to look thru the glass darkly; they are more prone to believe the bad news than the good. It is up to the thinking people, or the leaders (whether the head of a big corporation or the postmaster in the rural community) to refrain from retelling idle gossip they hear, read or dream. Rather, the leaders, be the leaders the big frogs in the big pond or the big frogs is the little ponds, should always seek to abate all groundless rumors. They should not, of course, try to minimize the gravity of the situation, but they should try to show that, with proper cooperation of all of our people, this war can be won and will be won; and conversely that, without unified effort and cooperation of all of our people, the war CAN be lost.

Preserve the morale and help win the war.

"Buses Are Certainly Necessary"

"The National Defense effort of course has called for a great deal of bus service from its very outset, most in handling the large construction crews, and later the operating forces and their families and friends to and from many plants and camp sites.

"Early this year it became apparent that one of the real problems * * * * was that of obtaining repair parts to maintain existing buses, and material to build new buses with which to handle the growing business.

"My own position on the question of priorities for new buses and repair parts has been that the requirements are relatively so small, the necessity for getting new buses is so obvious, and the desirability of keeping the existing equipment in good running order is so self-evident, that there should be no restrictions on the number of buses that may be built; that the manufacturers should be permitted to use materials to fill orders for new buses, and, of course, to keep the old ones in good running repair. Not only in the case of bus travel, but with travel and transport generally, the traffic incident to defense and that incident to civilian needs are so inextricably mingled that it is not practicable, without extreme and unnecessary public inconvenience, to separate them, and restrict the movement of persons and goods in civilian life in order to expedite that part applying directly to defense work. To make such a separation would create confusion, cause congestion, and lessen the total amount of transportation which could be created under the present method of handling them all together.

"Intercity bus operation is one of the newest types of common carrier enterprise; its growth has been phenomenal; the improvement of its equipment, and perfection of its accommodations have been amazing, especially considering the progress that has been made during the last ten depression years. For some time past I had assumed that the place of buses in the travel plans and travel habits of the nation had become established and well understood, but the necessity for conversation of certain critical materials which has arisen in the last year has made it necessary to scrutinize and question the relative importance and essential character of many undertakings.

"The very advanced design of modern buses through the use of aluminum focused attention upon them because of the need for that metal in airplanes. Even though bus operators and builders were quick to change their designs so that aluminum virtually was eliminated, the relative importance of building buses as compared with using the steel, rubber and other scarce materials for various defense purposes has raised the question, 'how necessary are buses anyway?'.

"Measured by the yardstick of patronage intercity buses are certainly necessary. They will carry perhaps 450 million people this year. Nearly as many bus rides will be made by school children in non-common carrier buses, and those in urban buses will exceed four billion. There is no question but the public finds the bus a useful and desirable means of travel.

"Much of the present bus travel is directly and indirectly due to the Nation's Defense program. The building of new factories and the enlargement of old ones for defense manufacturing has created transportation problems and added traffic to existing transport agencies in many places all over the country. The handling of employes to and from these new and enlarged plants during construction, as well as after they are in operation, has been carried on by various means, including intercity buses, extension of urban transit, private automobiles, and some railway shuttle trains. Many training camps are served by intercity buses and the movement of selectees to induction and reception centers is more and more by this mode of travel.

"The answer to the question 'how necessary is bus transportation' is that it is one of the Nation's most useful arms of service for peace and for preparedness, and if that time should come it will be an equally useful arm in time of war. It deserves to be preserved in full vigor and enlarged capacity."

(Excerpts from address of Ralph Budd, Transportation Commissioner, Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense, before National Association of Motor Bus Operators, Chicago, Illinois, September 18, 1941.)

No Alternative

The following article written by a national authority, Wright N. Patterson, and appearing in the Printer's Auxiliary of recent date, bears out our contention that printers and publishers must either get more for their products, go busted or lower the standards of their products:

No newspaper can be of value to the community in which it is published usless it is a good newspaper. It must have the confidence and respect of the people of the community. It must have prestige.

The newspaper cannot be good; it cannot inspire confidence and respect; it cannot have prestige, unless it is prosperous. It must be looked upon as a profitable institution and display an evidence of prosperity.

People of the community have reason to, and will, expect leadership and service from the newspaper. They will follow that leadership if deemed worthy, if its publisher has demonstrated ability to make his own business a success.

The good newspaper offers real values which cannot be weighed, counted or measured is definite terms. It performs a service to the community as a market place, as a social and cultural center. It makes these things possible and promotes their growth, and people appreciate and will support such service.

The first duty of every publisher is to his own newspaper. He must see that the public maintains it on a plane which will enable it too render service He must not belittle or underestimate its value. He must charge a price for what it offers which will maintains the newspaper as a prosperous institution, capable of leadership and worthy of respect and confidence.

In these days of advancing costs the newspaper cannot maintain old prices and continue to be prosperous. It cannot maintain old prices and hold its place of leadership in the community.

To maintain old prices means either bankrupcy or a decrease in values which will sacrifice the confidence and respect so essential to the rendering of community service.

The subscriber will not object to an extra one cent a week, but WILL protest any decrease in value. The merchant will not object to an increase in advertising rates, but he will quit entirely if his advertising fails to attract business, as it will when the newspaper loses the respect and confidence of its readers.

EDITORIAL

Every one has heard the fable of the grasshopepr and the bees. As the cold bleak winds came upon the country, the grasshoper having thrown away his time enjoying the summer, had nothing to eat. He then went to see the bees to try to procure food for himself. But the bees who had used their time wisely refused his pleas. Probably such circumstances will never confront many people, but we can make comparison. The person that spends most of his time in working and studying is sure to be rewarded when the cold winds of testing blow. One way for us to save is to buy Government Bonds and Stamps. Every penny spent in buying bonds and stamps will receive back plus the interest that is given. Money itself isn't any more secure than United States bonds.

Many great men have become eminent because of their thrift in money matters and in using their leisure time profitably. Their studying and working after daily tasks were finished enabled them to better themselves and be of service to their nation. Study your capabilities and enlarge them! Then you won't lag behind in later life!

CONCERNING THE EDITORIALS IN THE BULLDOG

During the past months the editors of the Bulldog have been doing some hard trying to write the editorials in the school paper. As a whole the staff wishes that the students would respond more to them. If you don't like them tell the editor so. They are not written to just "get something off our chest" because it takes a great deal of effort to write one. If you have any suggestions the editors will gratefullly receive them. The staff wants to write everything of interest that happens in school and it is not devoted to any certain portion of school—it's for everybody!

CHAPEL

The program was opened by a Boy Scout leading the student body in the salute and pledge of allegiance to the American flag. After several songs were sung, Mr. Rundle spoke on the subject of "Thrift." He cited that Grenada Schools as a whole, had purchased a total of $6,181 worth of United States Savings Bonds and Stamps, one student having purchased as much as 125 dollars worth of them. Mr. Rundle said that this is a time when all Americans should be intelligently patriotic instead of being emotionally patriotic. Announcements made in chapel are found elsewhere in the Bulldog.

IN THE STUDY HALL

In the study hall as always there hangs a calendar. Usually the picture on it is a country scene, or some other usual calendar picture. This year it is a picture of the torch of liberty. No one can miss it; it is in front of every student all during the day. Under this picture is the word "Liberty," and the slogan "Let's Keep It Burning."

This effective picture should make us ever mindful of our freedom opportunities, and hopes. It is what men and women have died for and what our men and women may have to die for. It would be profitable for the students to remember that freedom is our greatest blessing and that each should do all that he can to preserve this freedom.

SAVINGS STAMPS IN GRENADA SCHOOLS

Last week Mr. Rundle made a check up on all the students of both High and Gramar Schools to see how many bonds and stamps had been bought by the students and teachers. The total amount was six thousand one hundred dollars worth. This amount shows that all the students and faculty have been busy buying their share in our country's security. The amounts purchased by pupils ranged from 10 cents worth of stamps to $125.00 worth of Bonds. May each student who has not started his contribution do so at once.

DIRT

Margaret Green has been seen quite a bit here lately in the company of Warren Robinson.

We nominate Blanton Duncan for the most eligible bachelor. Blanton, why dont you give some of these lassies a break once in a while?

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

The hospitable country home of Mrs. John Weir was the scene of a lovely party and miscellaneous shower given on January the tenth, in honor of Mrs. Jim Shaw, nee Miss Clyde Parker. Miss Cornie Perry was co-hostess.

To receive their guests, Miss Perry wore a lovely dress of pale gold cloth with matching corsage of yellow glads. Mrs. Weir wore a lovely brown dress, and chose white carnations as her corsage flowers. The honoree wore the handsome ensemble of brown cloth with lynx trim used as her wedding costume. Her corsage was of pink gladioli tied with gold ribbon.

The home was artistically decorated with winter greenery and red berries. Twenty-five guests were present.

As the guests arrived, a beautiful plate containing salad ,sandwiches, olives, pickle, and cake was served with hot tea. Mrs. Rose poured tea at the charmingly arranged lace draped table.

In a contest, "Advice to a bride" the prize was awarded to Mrs. Wayne Koonce. This dainty prize, a blue pottery container, was given to the bride.

Many lovely gifts were then presented Mrs. Shaw. She received lovely linen, cut glass and pottery gifts and several very lovely pictures.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

On Monday night the Grenada Chapter of American Legion Auxiliary met met at the home of Mrs. Lewis Odom Mrs. Hodges was co-hostess. Fifteen members were present.

VISIT CRESCENT CITY

Mrs. Junius Townes has returned from a delightful trip to New Orleans. She gives a glowing account of the warm sunshine, the tropical beauty of the gardens overhung with Spanish moss, and the old world atmosphere.

She accompanied her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Murvall Dumas, of Chicago, on this trip, and was their guest. Upon their return they were guests in the Townes' home. Mr. Dumas is a former Grenadian, however, his wife is a Chicago girl.

Mrs. Sam Houston has returned from Birmingham for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Borwn.

Mr. E. L. Morrow spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Montgomery, Ala., attending to business affairs.

Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Lewis, of Durant, will spend Thursday and Friday in the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. A. McCool and family.

AUXILIARIES PRESBYTERIAN

The Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church met in the homes of members on Monday afternoon.

Circle No. 3, met at the home of Mrs. Cowles Horton on Margin Street. Eighteen members were present. Mrs. Horton taught the Bible lesson. After the closing devotional the members enjoyed a social hour and the hostess served sandwiches, cookies and cocacolas. Mrs. Horton graciously consented to give "A Christmas Story" as she gave at the Christmas meeting of the Twentieth Century Club.

CIRCLE NO. 2

Circle No. 2, met at the home of Mrs. D. G. Ross, with sixteen members present. Mrs. H. W. Baker taught the lesson.

CIRCLE NO. 1

Circle No. 1 met at the home of Mrs. Sel Roane. Fourteen were present and Mrs. Will Salmon taught the lesson.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Roane invited the members into the dining room where she served a delectable salad course from the buffet.

FAREWELL PARTY

A surprise going away party in honor of Mrs. Buster Clanton was given by Miss Marguerite Finney at the Grenada Drug Store Saturday afternoon. The honoree was presented with attractive as well as useful parting gifts. Delightful refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Clanton, Mrs. H. D. Lane, Jr., Mrs. P. W. Richards of Indianapolis, and Misses Edith Penn, Anna Rose Finney, Ruth Swetland and Marguerite Finney.

Mrs. Buster Clanton left early this week to join her husband who is a medical student at the University at Knoxville, Tenn.

POTASH

... an essential AMERICAN industry

All plant life depends upon potash because it is one of the necessary plant foods. Prior to 1915 scarcely any potash was produced in this country. When European supplies were cut off during the war the price of potash increased from $50 to as much as $600 per ton, and in most cases no potash at any price was available. Born in that emergency, an American potash industry has been developed with present prices now much below those of 1914, to a point which will assure supplies of this necessary plant food in the United States, its possessions, Canada and Cuba. Thus does this relatively new industry take a front line position in American defense.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

DR. WHEELER JOHNSON TAKES OVER OFFICE OF CHIROPRACTOR

Announcement is made that Dr. Wheeler Johnson, Chiropractor, has bought out the equipment and taken over the lease of Dr. G. L. Johnson, Chiropractor, in the Masonic Temple in Grenada.

Dr. Wheeler Johnson is a protege of Dr. G. L. Johnson, who inspired him to take up the study of that science. He is a native of Rock Hill, and will be glad to serve the people of this community.

Dr. G. L. Johnson is to join the U. S. Navy. He is a native of Neshoba county and has made many friends during his four years stay in Grenada.

To the "old doc" good luck; to the new "doc" welcome.

RIVERDALE CLUB MEETS

The regular meeting of the Riverdale Club met in the home of Mrs. Gosslin with Mrs. N. R. Powers co-hostess. Meeting was called to order by President, Mrs. E. L. Boteler.

Several members present, the roll was called and each answered with the worst bargain she ever made.

Mrs. McKinley gave a paper on speech and a pledge which was well given and each saw what her pledge should be.

Mrs. Bill Saunders told us what a man had written about the American woman, given by Mrs. Saunders, pleasing way was enjoyed by all.

The program was turned over to Mrs. Vernon Neely. She talked about the war and the part we will have in it. She told of the organization in Grenada and how we will be trained. She gave out cards for each to sign and turn in. Mrs. Neely is chairman of the Emergency Food Committee. She gave Mrs. Boteler a check for $3.00 she had won on canned goods at the state fair in Jackson. She is urging a greater contest. Mrs. Neely gave out record books, asking each one to keep a record on any one thing she can do well.

Mrs. R[illegible] recreational leader took on the program. She gave out pencil and paper and asked each to make new year's resolutions. She read them to us and we had lots of fun.

Mrs. Gosslin suggested we take twenty-five cents of our collection each month and buy government stamps, a great idea.

A prayer was said by Mrs. King. Then the hostess and co-hostess served tea or coffee, fruit cake with whipped cream and toasted nuts. All left saying after seeing Mrs. Gosslin's lovely home we have so much for which we should be thankful in this new year.

VISITING RECTOR SPEAKS

Rev. Van Garrett, rector of the Episcopal Church in Greenville, was the guest speaker at a meeting of young people of the Episcopal congregation of Grenada on Monday night. The meeting was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barkley and the visiting rector's address followed the serving of a spaghetti supper by the Social Service Department of the Auxiliary. As we understand it, this was the first of many such meetings planned and is part of the "Forward in Service" program approved by Bishop Green.

LITTLE CHILD DIED

Little Miss Ruby Jean Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Harper, of Grenada, died in Grenada on January 12, 1942. The little girl was seven years of age and in the 2nd grade at school.

POWER COMPANY REDUCES COMMERCIAL RATES

The Mississippi Power and Light Company, which serves Grenada and many other communities in North and Central Mississippi, has inaugurated a new rate for commercial consumers.

Rate structures are too techinal for discussion by someone like the writer, who knows nothing of them, but suffice to say commercial consumers will enjoy rate reductions ranging from ten to twenty-five percent depending on techinal factors.

SAVE PAPERS AND MAGAZINES

We are requesting those who have old magazines and newspapers to kindly tie them in bundles—magazines and newspapers separately—and notify the undersigned or Leon Provine, Phone 451 and Boy Scouts will gather them. As soon as a Baling Press is secured, card board and other types of waste paper will be collected and baled.

Very sincerely yours,
JOHN RUNDLE,
Supt. Grenada City Schools

Remember, after March 1st our subscription rate for those in the county is $2.00, instead of $1.50; and $2.50 for those outside the county, instead of $2.00.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

The state highway patrolmen are doing a good job keeping the highways reasonably safe. They should not be empowered to take over the duties of elected county officials. We have, God knows, little enough local self government as it is. By and large communities have whatever kind of law enforcement that is wanted by the majority of the members of that community, be the degree of enforcement good or bad.

Sid Law, the engineer who addressed the Rotarians and the students of the City Schools, has a right to talk on safety, as he has not lost a day in 42 years on account of an accident. Lots of times individuals preach one thing and practice another. Sid does not do this.

Cicero Minyard, who was joingranny of the WPA in Beat Five was in town Tuesday. He and Joe Ward, the other granny, are on their own now.

We hear that Earl Staten, the Mayor of Oxberry, has my old "secretary", Sebe Clark, working in his place this year. Sebe is a good negro when asleep.

There is increasing talk and rumor that Grenada will get a civilian training center. Cut that out, Horn, for I am repeating rumors.

Joe Lott, another old colored friend, dropped by to see me Tuesday, as he does whenever he is in town.

Our job press has been busy for ten days, but unless new orders are forthcoming Horn will face idleness on this week end.

Aint they sweet.

Dr. Avent caught two fine coons Monday night. He gets relaxation from his strenuous duties by going to the woods whenever he can find time to do so.

Healthy young men without dependents are going to become more and more embarrassed by staying at home when war is in progress.

Save your waste paper. Systematic collection service will soon be in effect. As for tin cans, we believe the effort to salvage them is worthwhile.

LOCALS

Mrs. C. E. Lockett and son, Mr. James Russell Lockett and wife returned home Monday night from Corpus Christi, where they visited their son and brother, Paul, who is a flying cadet at the Air Base there.

METHODIST W. S. OF C. S.

How Material Shortages and Defense Demands Affect Telephone Service

From 1931 through 1939 Southern Bell service was brought to a peak of efficiency never before attained.

During these years we had full margins of plant facilities, and most telephone workers were veterans with years of experience and training. These conditions created a situation ideal for concentration on the betterment of the speed and quality of our services.

Now the situation is reversed. Defense requirements, both military and industrial, as well as unprecedented demands for individual service, have placed exceptional burdens on our physical resources and manpower. Added to this is the tremendous increase in local and long distance calls, which combined have developed service demands without parallel in our history.

Thousands of new workers have been employed and trained, and millions of dollars have been spent to expand our facilities to meet these heavy demands.

We hope you will agree that we have so far been generally successful in meeting the demands for telephone service, great as they have been. Because of conditions beyond our control, such as the shortage of copper and other essential materials, it may be, as time goes on, that we cannot continue to meet the demands in certain congested areas with the same success. However, we pledge you that we shall continue to do our very best, with the determination to accomplish the impossible rather than trying to show why the possible can't be done.

Dear Mr. Red: Lawrence's piece was a humdinger. I happened to hear the lady via radio.

Tire sale restrictions will cause shoppers to save rubber by staying and shopping at home. If properly capitalized upon this one thing will be of great help to merchants in the small towns. No more gadding to Memphis to buy something to be had at home!

One by one, the eligible young men of this and every other community in America are being called to report to the induction boards. Newspapers are observing a self-imposed censorship about these matters. But this large number of young men, each representing a different family group, is bringing the war closer to the people.

C. W. Thompson and James Jacks of the local post office force joined the USN last week and left for New Orleans the same day. Each of these young men has a widowed mother; in C. W.'s case, he is the only son in the family.

The time is short at hand when a young unmarried man will be ashamed to be seen on the streets wearing civilian clothes. We actually pity those who have unseen physical handicaps for such young men do not have time to stop and tell everyone they see about their ailments. People look at such young men like a bull looks at a stray calf.

Aint they sweet.

Sax Weir, Jr., underwent an operation at Grenada Hospital so that he could be physically fit to join the Engineering Corps of the army.

Folks have finally found out that singing "God Bless America" will not stop the Japs. God blesses those who help themselves.

Repeaters of idle gossip concerning the war situation should be gagged with an air tight gag for the duration.

Mrs. Ben Moore said her mama raised so much cain about missing a copy of the GCW that she hurried to the office and renewed a full month ahead of time.

Even Plumber Rogers' water works got out of whack during the cold spell, as his well rope broke.

This cold spell made me wish I was back at Oxberry where we had a flowing artesian well and a corn crib.

The thaw Sunday caused many church goers to cuss worse than sailors as many of them went home to find their houses flooded. Oh, me.

Our printing customers certainly did keep Horn and Greenfield out of devilment last week end, but, unless more orders are forthcoming, they are likely to get into devilment this "in coming" week end.

General Douglas MacArthur

(By HERBERT B. ALLEN)

About a year ago I wrote in the GCW about two American army officers for whom I held a high regard, Generals Mac Arthur and Marshall. General MacArthur was then a former Chief of Staff, retired, serving as organizer and trainer for the armed forces of the Philippines.

The heart of every veteran is with General Mac Arthur in his present tough assignment as commander in the Philipines. He is now operating under the same severe handicaps that British general officers have had to contend with - lack of sufficient troops, insufficient supplies, great distances from supply bases, and inadequate air and artillery support.

General Mac Arthur has been a great officer in this man's army and I look for him to come out of the Philippines with a brilliant military record, whether in victory or defeat. It is much more difficult to be a great officer in defeat than in victory. He has his great opportunity now to make a reputation similar to that of old Black Jack Pershing, and be a General in fact, as well as in rank.

In the first World War, General Marshall was one of Pershing's bright young men, but he lacks the fire that made Pershing popular among his soldiers. General Marshall's job has been no bed of roses, and it was not made any easier by the Wheelers, the Lindberghs, and by the Republican Party generally.

In a democratic country the army needs a commanding officer with a strong and colorful personality that will appeal to the imagination of the rank and file of the army. General Marshall is a quiet, businesslike and efficient staff officer; but great general officers require certain magnetic personal qualities in addition to efficiency.

There are many officers, commanding our large army camps, lacking both the dynamic personalities, and the professional qualifications, essential for creating the atmosphere, and maintaining the morale, necessary for keeping soldiers contented and efficient. But in times of crisis there are always qualified and competent officers pressing for posts of leadership and great responsibility.

In the past year there has been scandalous inefficiency in the army, the responsibility for which must inevitably rest with the senior officers of the general staff. Before our army can be made an efficient war machine, several drastic changes must be made.

Anyone who has commanded a company of 250 men in the army knows how much trouble can be caused by one bad egg. And what applies to a squad, a platoon and a company, certainly applies in even greater force to a battalion, a regiment, a brigade, a division, and an army corps. There are tens of thousands in the army who hate the military service, and no officers can make soldiers out of such material.

An army of a certain size should be determined upon, one which can be brought to the highest point of effective action, armed both offensively and defensively with the best weapons available. Those in the service who do not qualify patriotically for such high type soldiering should be given yellow discharges and eliminated from the service. Criminals are not permitted in the army; and cowards never should be!

If we had an army of one million such men, perfectly trained, well led, adequately armed, and soldiering like patriotic Americans, it could be quickly expanded as conditions require. In the last war we had several crack regiments of the regular army, a great corps of marine regiments, and several cocky national guard outfits around which to build a real combat organization. That was General Pershing's idea - and it was vastly superior to the present system. The army needs a thorough reorganization from top to bottom.

When patriotic Americans are inducted into the military service they have a right to leadership worthy of the best officer traditions of the United States Army; and they have a right to be free from the antics of sob sisters, masquerading as soldiers, who are yellow from their service caps down.

The war declarations have silenced the fifth columnists in the House and Senate in Washington; the dogs in the America First movement have curled their tails between their legs and crawled into their miserable holes. Now is the time of all times to clean up the army.

It is my fervent hope that General Mac Arthur will make a glorious record in his unequal struggle against the Japanese army, superior in both numbers and equipment. May he come through like the great soldier and gentleman that he is. And may his reward, by our President, be his prompt promotion to be commanding general of the United States Army.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Sweet little Martha Fay Williams celebrated her third birthday on Wednesday, January 14th, by inviting her many young friends to a birthday party at the Community House.

As the little guests arrived, each with a gift for their tiny hostess, they were given lollypops and baloons as favors. Mrs. Williams was assisted in entertaining the children by Mrs. Jack McClure, the honoree's Sunday school teacher. After enjoying childish games for a while, the beautiful birthday cake with its three candles was served with Dixie cups. Martha Fay was dressed in a lovely dress of green broadcloth, trimmed with embroidered white organdy collar and cuffs. She wore white ribbon in her beautiful blonde curls, and a dainty corsage of pink carnations and Baby Breath, a gift from Mrs. Trusty. She is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Williams Jr.

Those invited to attend included the following children: Maxine Dubard, Jimmie Quinn, Martha Grant, Chas.

Ferrill, Sambo Caruthers, Billy Billups, Cas E. Heath III, Belle Fair Brown, Paula Leigh, Bobby Sue Collins, Mary Hardy Bays, Peggie Ruth Evans, Sonny McEachin, Baby Alice Brewer, Dorothy Long, Roger Dollarhide, Sandra Paschal, Ann and Lucy Mitchell and Marguret Ann Mitchell, Mary Leigh Garner, Joe Thompson, Spivey Douglass, Clarice Townes, Dorothy Liles, Diana Dubard, Patty Quantrell, Walter Garner, Sambo Waldrup, Jo Jo Barranco, Vince Barranco, Betty Isenberg, Milton Sanders, Helen Louise Kimbrough, Billy Webber, Myrna Mistrot, Billy Brown, Arline Pierce, Jacqueline Sanderson, Mayrline Smith, Betty Burkley, Sandra Matthews, Suzette Cathey, Betty Jean Hannah, Frank Eastwood, Ann Kent, Herbert Stulpe and Sonny Swetland.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Blackstone and Mrs. Henry Allen of Water Valley attended the party.

Morale is an intangible thing, but if the morale of the soldiers and of the people back home can be kept up the war will be won; if morale is lost, the war will be lost. Do your part by keeping your tongue still (when tempted to repeat some rumor), your head erect and your hands busy.

Johnnie Leigh, leaving for duty as Lieutenant in the army, left two dollars here for a subscription.

With the restrictions on the use of rubber for girdles, we will live to see many wimmen bulge out in unexpected places.

Civilians Are Requested To Cooperate In War Efforts

Civilians were requested today to cooperate with the nation's war effort by refraining as far as possible from using long distance facilities on Christmas Day and New Year's Day in order that long distance telephone lines can be kept open for government use in this emergency.

The request came from O. H. Longcoy, manager of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, who said that war preparations might be seriously hampered if long distance circuits become so crowded with civilian holiday greeting messages as to delay completion of calls necessary to the war program.

He asked all persons contemplating exchanging greetings by long distance telephone to place their calls some time other than Christmas Day and New Year's Day as a contribution to America's preparations.

In making his appeal, Mr. Longcoy said "long distance facilities have been crowded with calls ever since the United States was attacked on December 7.

"Government long distance telephone requirements, both military and civil, have increased sharply. Industrial plants, stepping up the tempo of production, have started using long distance in an ever-increasing volume.

"In addition, news service if essential and semi-essential nature have found it necessary to increase their use of long distance. Long distance lines also are used to link the stations of the radio networks. On top of this, the heavy volume of civilian calls which we had already anticipated shows signs of increasing beyond the capacity of our facilities, despite our all-out preparation of the past months. Unless there is a sharp reduction in volume of non-essential long distance calls on Christmas and New Years Day there might certainly be delays on essential calls.

"None of us wants that to happen, so we appeal to you not to place calls Christmas and New Year's Day unless they are essential."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

'Biggest Budget in World's History' For Expanding of U. S. War Program Will Cost Nation 56 Billion Dollars; Russians Continue to Push Back Nazis

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

SOMEWHERE IN CHINA.—Veteran Chinese soldiers of this type, pictured at a railway station "Somewhere in China," are advancing toward Malaya to aid the hard-pressed forces of the British against the Japs. It was reported that veterans of this type took part in the slaughter of Jap troops in the Changsha, China, sector.

TAXES:
Billions on Billions

Americans who had been given grim satisfaction by the President's stirring message to congress faced with what courage they could muster the huge bill that will have to be paid: 56 billions of dollars.

Congress, to a man, had told the President "we will give you the money." OPM had said, "We can and will do it," and labor said, "we will not stop working." And the country, with surprisingly little grumbling, but with no small measure of worrying, decided to dig down into its earnings to foot half the bill this year.

Twenty-seven billions of dollars, taxes of nine billions on top of 18 billions were to be levied to meet as much as possible of the due bill as it is spent.

On the basis of 130,000,000 people, the expenditure in taxes for the federal war program, added to whatever local and state taxes might be levied, would be $204 for each person, man, woman or child; $813 for a family of four. That of course was an average, with those better able to pay shouldering the larger portion of the burden.

The "overall" war expenditure estimate was thus brought to 131 billions, or three times the total cost to this country of World War No. 1.

Mr. Roosevelt frankly had told newsmen it was the biggest budget in the history of the world. Government authorities said it was twice the estimated annual war expenditure of Germany.

On top of the taxes, it would be necessary to borrow 32 billions. The national debt, therefore, would skyrocket to $110,000,000,000, or about three times the huge figure of June, 1940.

The nine extra billions, the President said, would be divided into seven billions in direct taxes of various types, though he said he opposed a general sales tax. The other two billions would be in the form of new social security taxes.

Existing taxes of all descriptions would be continued, and they have been estimated as due to produce 13 billions.

The war allocations had been split as follows: 18½ billions for the army; 17 billions for supplemental but unspecified items; seven billions to the navy; 7½ billions for the lease-lend program; 1½ billions for the ship program, the rest for miscellaneous purposes.

Perhaps a billion can be lopped off of non-defense government activities, the President said—that is all.

REACTION:
Local and World

Britain was exultant over the program, believed it adequate for the swiftest possible victory, and praised the administration to the skies for the stand it was taking, and the X-Y-Z or all-out plan to win the war.

One London headline had been typical: "The Yanks Are Coming," which was the British answer to President Roosevelt's promise to send to the British Isles a large A.E.F.

Australian premier, John Curtin, said the President's plan was one for "working and fighting."

Italy called the plan "sensational and spectacular" and was not to be believed. Nevertheless, the Italian censors did not permit the newspapers to publish the figure—125,000 planes, 120,000 tanks in 1943.

Germans also were not allowed to discover what the American production plans were, and the Reich sources were belittling, calling the program a "warm-over" of previous utterances by the President.

Italians went further and said that these armaments were all in the future, a future that would come too late.

JAPAN:
Still Pressing

Reports from the Far Eastern fronts, with the exception of China, were uniformly continuing stories of increased Japanese pressure in occupied zones, and uniform efforts to extend Japanese operations.

The British had doggedly been holding on in Malaya, but steadily and slowly falling back toward Singapore.

The Japs apparently had complete mastery of the air in Luzon, and it was deemed only a question of time how long General MacArthur's army could hold out.

Where the main defense was coming was obscure and remained a military secret, but there were certain indications which were said to be giving Tokyo plenty to worry about.

For instance, the naming of Wavell as supreme commander, and the placing of a well-trained Chinese army in Burma, together with other Allied forces, readying themselves for an onslaught on the Japanese rear at Malaya was one of these.

Another was the American and Australian insistence that strongest possible aid be given to the Dutch. On top of this came the word that Java would be chosen as general headquarters of the Allied operations.

A glance at the Southwest Pacific maps showed the position of Java and Sumatra and their relation to the Malacca straits and the open ocean route to the south to Darwin, Australia, and plainly indicated the general tactic that was most likely to be pursued.

Japan, to break supply lines along this route, would have to move a considerable naval force out of the China sea and into the open South Pacific and that could only be done with grievous results to the land campaign.

REDS:
Increasing Pace

News from Russia had been uniformly good, with 572 towns reported captured in one week, 10,000 enemy troops slain, and huge quantities of booty taken.

Hitler went to the front, made his headquarters at Smolensk, and suddenly found he was only 45 miles from where the chief fighting was. He was believed to have moved his headquarters hurriedly farther to the rear.

The Crimean debacle was equalling the disaster befalling the German arms in the north around Leningrad. Turkey had temperatures far below zero, coldest in Turkish history, and that was an indication of what the ill-prepared Germans and their Italian and Rumanian allies had to stand in the Crimea, ordinarily the warmest part of Russia.

The Germans were resisting most strongly on the central front. In the north the Russians had even recaptured Hogland island, which had been taken by the Finns, and it was evident that the Finlanders, reportedly deserted by their Nazi comrades, were rapidly getting into the safest possible places, and losing one dangerous spot after another.

In addition to the successes for the Reds on the Crimean peninsula, which were rapidly raising the siege of Sevastopol, the Russians were gaining in the Donets basin.

AFRICA:
British Winning

British sources reported they had evidence that General Rommel had virtually given up hope of eventual retreat from Libya, and had resolved on a pitch battle in the most favorable ground he could find.

This was a plateau on which there was considerably more clay foundation than desert sand, which would aid the German mechanized forces and afford better than average landing spots for planes.

Greatest Sabotage

The most gigantic sacrificial sabotage in world history was the destruction of Russia's Dnieper river dam by the Red army last August, says Collier's. This great hydroelectric project, which was completed in 1932, required five years to build and cost $500,000,000.

ACT FAST WHEN A COLD THREATENS

At the very first sniffle, sneeze, or any sign of a cold just try a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. If used in time, Va-tro-nol's quick action helps prevent many colds from developing.... And remember this, when a head cold makes you miserable, or transient congestion "fills up" nose and spoils sleep—3-purpose Va-tro-nol does three important things. It (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) relieves irritation, (3) helps clear clogged nasal passages. Enjoy the relief it brings. Follow directions in folder.

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO

It's simple. It's fun. Just think up a last line to this jingle. Make sure it rhymes with the word "got."

Write your last line of the jingle on the reverse side of a Raleigh package wrapper (or a facsimile thereof), sign it with your full name and address, and mail it to Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., P. O. Box 1799, Louisville, Kentucky, postmarked not later than midnight, January 24, 1942.

You may enter as many last lines as you wish, if they are all written on separate Raleigh package wrappers (or facsimiles).

Prizes will be awarded on the originality and aptness of the line you write. Judges' decisions must be accepted as final. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded. Winners will be notified by mail.

Anyone may enter (except employees of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., their advertising agents, or their families). All entries and ideas therein become the property of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation.

HERE'S WHAT YOU WIN

You have 133 chances to win. If you send in more than one entry, your chances of winning will be that much better. Don't delay. Start thinking right now.

MICHELE MORGAN, the French actress who will make her American film debut in RKO's "Joan of Paris," will take to the South Seas in her second picture. That is, she will unless some new twist of world affairs makes the South Seas undesirable as a background for a picture. Nowadays, so many changes have had to be made in a hurry in so many scripts that motion picture executives are prepared for anything. Anyway, Miss Morgan is slated to do "Challenge to the Night"—a South Seas romance.

Madeleine Carroll has had to do a bit of plan-changing herself. She was determined to go back to England, you know; had got a year's leave of absence and was set to go home and entertain troops or do anything else that would be useful. As soon as "My Favorite Blonde" was finished she'd be on her way. But our entrance into the war has changed all that; she'll stay here, and probably play a lead role in "Her Perfect Mate."

Metro's writers seem to be turning Robert Taylor into a tough guy; making him discard his gentlemanly ways for two guns and a swagger.

ROBERT TAYLOR

He was a vicious killer in "Billy the Kid," and in "Johnny Eager" he emerges again as a cruel gangland leader. Even slugs Lana Turner!

"Dumbo," Walt Disney's latest feature, has been voted one of the ten best pictures of the year in a nation-wide poll of junior film critics, conducted by the National Board of Review. "The Little Foxes" and "Citizen Kane" were also included.

Paramount's going to make "Wake Island" an all-star picture; it is being written by W. R. Burnett, author of "Little Caesar" and "High Sierra," and was suggested, of course, by the gallant fight put up by the marines on the tiny Pacific outpost.

Dorothy Lamour has 60 new spring hats! She won them—the California Millinery guild voted her America's Best Hatted Girl, and donated the bonnets as a reward. Maybe they just wanted to make sure that she wouldn't join the hatless brigade, that's giving the nation's milliners so much to worry about.

Come weal, come woe, Edward Small goes right on filming those swashbuckling tales of Dumas. The latest, "The Corsican Brothers," with Douglas Fairbanks Jr. playing both of them, was given its first showing at Washington, D. C., with practically everybody of importance on the invitation list.

Elizabeth Wayne, the Mutual chain's young American representative in Batavia, Dutch East Indies, is the envy of many veteran newsmen and broadcasters. After being on the air only seven months, she suddenly found herself in a most important spot. She's a free lance journalist, and was writing for local Batavian newspapers when the Dutch radio chain, Nirom, asked her to broadcast to America. Since then she has been heard regularly over Mutual.

From now on you're likely to hear any of 14 dialects in any language, spoken by anyone from 18 to 80, on the "Joyce Jordan—Girl Interne" radio serial. The reason is the fact that Luis Van Rooten has joined the cast. He's been signed to play a straight role, but how in the world can a script writer resist making use of his amazing talents as an imitator?

ODDS AND ENDS—Pat O'Brien and Brian Donlevy are teamed in Columbia's "Trinidad," with Janet Blair making her screen singing debut—she was the vocalist with the late Hal Kemp's dance band . . . A film trade paper reports that Gene Autry has risen to second place in national film popularity . . . "Tarzan's Secret Treasure" will soon be released, and "Tarzan Against the World" has gone into production—evidently we needn't worry about our Tarzan supply . . . Lew Ayres has given up that idea of making a picture in China, naturally, he'll make "Fingers at the Window" next, forsaking Dr Kildare's stethoscope.

JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 3:1-6, 15-17, 21, 22.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased.—Luke 3:22.

"A reed shaken with the wind?" No. "A man clothed in soft raiment?" No. "A prophet? Yea, I say unto you, and more than a prophet. For this is he, of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face. . . . Verily I say unto you, Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist." Such was the testimony of Jesus (Matt. 11:7-11) about the man who in our lesson of today bears his testimony concerning Jesus.

I. John: the Preacher of Repentance (vv. 1-3).

The times in which a man lives will often make or break him. If times are dark and difficult most men submit to the burden of the day without protest or effort. But not so with John. The period in which he lived is graphically brought before us as we consider the names of civil and religious leaders mentioned in verses 1 and 2. Tiberius Caesar, the emperor, was virtual dictator, "talented, ambitious, cruel, licentious, infamous, inhuman" (Van Doren). Pilate was the governor of Judea, who later condemned Jesus to the cross. Herod was a seducer and murderer. Annas and Caiaphas shared the infamy into which the priesthood had fallen.

God needed a man with a flaming message of judgment, and He had him ready out in the wilderness, far from decadent Rome and spiritually dead Jerusalem. Upon this man John came the message, a word from God—"Repent"—which stirred the whole countryside. But he had even a greater mission.

II. John—the Forerunner of Jesus (vv. 4-6).

He humbly identifies himself as the voice in the wilderness prophesied by Isaiah. His was the important duty of preparing the way for the coming of the Lord Jesus.

The picture is that of the preparation for the coming of an oriental monarch. When he "was about to make a journey, a servant was sent before him to prepare the highway. Valleys needed to be filled, hills lowered, crooked places made straight, rough ways made smooth. Thus, before men would be ready to receive Christ, moral obstacles must be removed, men must repent of their sins and turn from them" (Erdman).

Isaiah says that "all flesh shall see the salvation of God," something which God has made possible, but which we have not even yet fully carried out. The gospel is universal in its character—for all mankind. This prophetic word will, of course, have its complete fulfillment when the King comes to reign. Then "they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them" (Jer. 31:34).

III. John—the Follower of Jesus (vv. 15-17).

The humility of the man; his recognition of true greatness in Christ, his willingness to efface self, is seen in the words of these verses and in such other passages as John 1:29-30, where he directed his disciples to Jesus, whom they followed, and John 3:26-30, where in response to the effort to make him jealous of Jesus because his (John's) disciples followed Him, John replied, "He must increase, but I must decrease." He was glad to be the friend of the Bridegroom who rejoiced when the bridegroom came (John 3:29). He declared himself unworthy to loose the latchet of Christ's shoe (Luke 3:16).

The Christian virtue of humility is evil spoken of by a world of force and hatred, but it is still precious in the sight of God, and the ornament par excellence of Christian character. "Be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud and giveth grace to the humble" (I Pet. 5:5).

As he put himself in the background, John put Christ forward as the one whose baptism would not be a material element, water, indicating the inward change of repentance, but would be with Holy Ghost fire, cleansing and transforming life.

However, the Christ who comes as a Saviour to the repentant one, comes also as the flaming fire of judgment upon the impenitent. There is wheat and chaff in the world of men, and the fan of Christ will soon separate the wheat which goes into His eternal garner from the chaff which He will burn with unquenchable fire.

Our God is a God of unfathomable grace, but He is also a God of severest judgment upon those "that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." Read the solemn words of II Thessalonians 1:7-9. It is an awful thing to reject the Saviour, and thus to make Him our Judge.

Household Hints

Scatter wood ashes on top of snow on lawns. When snow melts ashes will fertilize soil.

• • •

Never fill muffin pans more than two-thirds full, allowing space for the batter to rise during baking.

• • •

Black specks, which frequently appear on silver, may be removed if covered with a paste made of whiting and olive oil. Let stand until dry, then polish silver with a chamois cloth.

• • •

A little chili sauce and catsup added to mayonnaise makes a very satisfactory sauce to serve with baked or broiled fish. It can be prepared in a short time.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Hoen said that it was 40 degrees below zero on Bogue Bridge last Thursday morning.

Let's not ever use the term, "Yellow Dogs", even if we are referring to the Japanese. Our Chinese allies belong to the yellow race and they are wonderful and inexhaustible and unconquerable allies in this fight. Anyway, we got into this mess primarily because we thought of the Japanese as a nation to conquer some morning before lunch.

Wick Ransom's right hand (and left hand up to the elbow), E. Brantley, of Natchez, sent in a check recently.

Without exception those who have entrused their engraving work to the old lady, have expressed their approval of both price and quality. She is the individual who goes into meticulous detail about all society affairs, marriages, etc., and she should be given a chance when some engraved matter is needed.

John Long, the most vigorous man of his age in Grenada, honored our office with a call recently.

Babe Costilow must have been frozen out Saturday or headed straight to where he could get a shot of scotch.

Finley Horton and Mrs. Finley certainly have reared some fine, industrious boys.

Be patient with the telephone girl if she is a second late in answering your call. Remember that the traffic of the telephone lines is very, very heavy.

Ike Solar, president of Grenada Industries, made our cash register play a merry tune recently when he paid in $3.50 for two subscriptions, one here and the other in New York. Aint it grand to be rich.

We neglected to mention that our good friend, Whitfield King, came in recently to check up on everything and to extend greetings of the season.

This is no comic opera war like the War with Spain.

Nearly all of the new years resolutions have been broken, thrown into the trash barrell and carted off to the cathozie heap on the river.

In 1917, I was not all of that patriotic about fighting the Germans, but I was ashamed to be seen on the street and having folks look at me as if they were asking "whythehell aint that beastly looking gummox of they were that restrained in their verbage in the armed," so I volunteered the month war was declared.

It is a happy sign that folks are beginning to realize that this war is no play matter. IT has happened to so many places whose people said, "It can't happen to U.S." that America now says that it CAN happen to U.S.

Senator Winter reported that he was going to introduce a bill carefully prepared to exempt men in service from the payment of poll taxes, this week. Good work, senator.

It can happen to us. It can be prevented only by hard sustained effort by all of our people.

Only a small percent of our people will ever be in the armed forces. But we folks back of the lines can help too. If you have no boy of your own to write to, write to your neighbor's boy and tell him "we folks at home are with you tooth and toe nail."

Quite a number of those we cut off on the first of the year have come in and signed up again.

Orman Kimbrough's right hand, J. L. Neal, will not suffer for news and bull this year as he paid his dues promptly.

The GCW, like all other community newspapers in the State and nation, has greater and greater demands for space for promoting this and that worthy cause. All the space is freely used by the GCW and, we believe, by all other real community newspapers. But, the citizens who have printing to do should remember that, to exist, a newspaper has to have revenue and that, particularly at this time when national advertising - the country newspaper's meal ticket - is almost non-existent, a fair share of printing should be entrused to the country publisher-printer. Too many of our business firms send their printing from Grenada - a town with three printers - to Little Rock, Chicago and other places.

Mr. Greenfield said it was all stuff and nonsense about him having too much mileage.

To save wear and tear on non-replaceable tires, there will not be much shopping 'n Memphis. This is a golden opportunity for local merchants to cash in on this condition. Printers' ink will help.

Cold weather and difficulty of getting materials are retarding progress on the building of the new water tank.

Grenada is so crowded that we suggest that a tent city be erected. Three families with trailers were in the office Tuesday looking for parking space.
